Work history:

Supply English Teacher

COMPANY NAME: ABC TEACHERS, LICHFIELD

August 2021 - date

- Working within a team of skilled and experienced English teachers.
- Consistently had to communicate and find out and liaise with the absent teacher's lesson plan, consulting with other staff about seating plans and overall fundamentals that will create a safe and productive learning environment.

- Role is flexible meaning that there are opportunities to get insight into other subject fields too.

Teacher of English

COMPANY: STARBANK SCHOOL, BIRMINGHAM

September 2020 – August 2021

- Consistently ensuring that lessons plans are tailored and meet all students' requirements.
- Working closely with mentor
- Was able to discuss individual student concerns with parents and liaise with other staff.
- Consistent attendance in school meetings and further after-school trainings was upkept throughout the role.
- Developed a rapport with all staff in all departments in the school which led to the success of my teaching experience at this role.

PGCE Secondary English student (unemployed)

COMPANY: BIRMINGHAM CITY UNIVERSITY, BIRMINGHAM

September 2019 – July 2020

- The course provided a clear scope into the secondary English curriculum covering both language and literature respectively.
- The PGCE equipped me with a range of ideas to implement into planning lessons as well as utilising resources to apply into behavioural strategies.
- Opportunity to undertake different placements to gain an insight into the daily routine of what school life offers, but most importantly, a chance to showcase practices studied at the university to different classes.

As Ayan's subject mentor, I am particularly impressed with the progress many students have made throughout her teaching journey. She can produce well-planned and sequenced lessons which builds on pupils' knowledge and understanding of their learning. Ayan often shares her lesson PowerPoints with her departmental colleagues to support them with their own pupils. She is resilient, communicates effectively and is a hard-worker and would truly be an asset to have in your team.
